Peace by Rejoicing

Peace is Reasonable

Peace through our Requests

Peace in Refuge

Small Group Questions:

Thinking about this week's teaching, was there a particular point, verse or comment that caught your attention, challenged you, or raised a question?

What does peace mean to you as you think about the Advent season?

Rejoicing changes us in three ways: changed perspective, changed posture, and changed purpose. Which of those three ways do you find yourself most in need of changing today?

How does a right understanding that God is in control change the way you experience peace in your circumstances?

How have you experienced prayerlessness as the enemy of peace in your own life?

Why do you think Paul describes the peace of God as surpassing all understanding? How does that change your perspective on God's peace?
