Acts 28

The Book of Acts is About the Mission of God.

The Mission of God Includes All Nations.

The Mission of God is Not Finished.

Small Group Questions:

Thinking about this week's teaching, was there a particular point, verse or comment that caught your attention, challenged you, or raised a question?

Acts begins with a reminder of Jesus' teaching on the kingdom of God. It ends with Paul teaching about the kingdom of God. How does living in light of the kingdom of God influence the way(s) we live in the world?

Paul knows it's God's will for him to get to Rome, but he doesn't treat his shipwreck on Malta as an inconvenience. Instead, he ministers to the people there faithfully. Why is it important to see God's sovereignty in our "setbacks?" How can we remain faithful in even the worst circumstances?

Paul lives under house arrest at his own expense. Despite this, he shares the gospel with "greater numbers" of people. How can we use our homes to be places of gospel witness?

The Mission of God still continues through us by the power of the Holy Spirit. How is God calling you (and your group) to participate in his mission in Woodland Park, the West, and the World?
